Acknowledgements

The genesis of the book lies in the research study Evolution of the Finance Track commissioned by the Department for International Development (DFID) and the Ministry of Economic Affairs, Ministry of Finance, Government of India, under the UK-India Economic Policy and Prosperity Partnership (EPPP). We gratefully acknowledge comments on the draft report from Ms. Anu P. Mathai, Mr. Parveen Kumar, and Ms. Anoop Nair of the Department of Economic Affairs, Ministry of Finance, Government of India. The comments received from FCDO were very valuable. We are grateful to Dr. Arpita Mukherjee for coordinating the study under the EPPP.

We are extremely grateful to Dr. Alok Sheel for acting as our mentor during the study and sharing valuable experiences of the process of G20 agenda setting. We received important feedback on the draft report from Dr. Sheel. We are thankful for reviewers who patiently read the drafts and provided valuable comments. These include Dr. Ludger Schuknecht, Dr. Alok Sheel, Dr. Niranjan Rajadhyaksha, and Mr. Andy Mukherjee. We are extremely grateful to Dr. John Kirton and the stakeholders we consulted during our study. Their views have enriched our understanding of the issues. Finally, we are grateful to our intern Ms. Tanvi Gupta, for her inputs into the political economy processes in the various countries. We would also like to thank Ms. Chhaya Singh for all her help.

About the Authors

Saon Ray is an economist specializing in industry and international trade issues, and her research is at the intersection of trade and climate change. Her areas of interest include global value chains, technological upgrading of Indian industries, free trade agreements and trade creation effects, technology transfer, foreign direct investment, efficiency and productivity of firms, financial inclusion, and energy and climate change-related issues. She is a Visiting Professor at ICRIER. She has held positions at the TERI School of Advanced Studies, Research and Information Systems for Developing Countries (RIS), and the Institute of Economic Growth (IEG). Her Ph.D. in Economics from the Jawaharlal Nehru University examined the role of intellectual property rights in transferring technology to developing countries. Her book Global Value Chains and the Missing Links: Cases from Indian Industry was published by Routledge and an edited volume Low Carbon Pathways to Growth in India was published by Springer in 2018.

Samridhi Jain is a Consultant at PwC India. She is currently working with Central Bank of Srilanka in developing EPF Policy and improving their systems. She holds a Bachelor's degree in Economics from Ambedkar University Delhi and a Postgraduate Degree in Economics from the University of Mumbai. Her research interests lie in understanding the state's role in governing different policies at the state and central level and in the development of implementation plans. During her stint in ICRIER, her research work was focused on international finance, DRR and international relations etc.

Vasundhara Thakur is a doctoral candidate at the Kiel Institute for the World Economy and Bielefeld University. Prior to this, she worked as a Research Associate at the Indian Council of Research on International Economic Relations (ICRIER). Her work spans the areas of international trade, investment, and finance. She holds a Master's and Bachelor's degree in Economics.

Ms. Smita Miglani has over twelve years of experience in policy-oriented research, working with key ministries of the Government in India. In the past, she has handled research positions at ICRIER, Delhi and at the Alliantgroup, Hyderabad. She has been involved in important studies undertaken for international organisations such as the British High Commission, European Commission, the American Chamber of Commerce and Indian industry associations. Smita Miglani has completed M.Phil. (Economics) from Jawaharlal Nehru University, Delhi and is experienced in the use of econometrics and advanced economic analysis. Her broad areas of research interest are international trade and investment, trade finance and climate change issues. She has published work in reports, working papers, books and refereed journals. Her research work has contributed to India's negotiating strategies for bilateral trade and investment agreements and policy reforms decisions at the domestic level. She is currently a Consultant at IEG.
