

GDN-2008 AWARDS & MEDALS COMPETITION

The Global Development Network recognizes outstanding work in development

A Call to Researchers to apply for the Competition on the theme
'Natural Resources & Development'

Do you have an interesting unpublished research paper on Natural Resource Management (NRM)?

Do you have an exciting idea for research on NRM?

OR

Are you looking for funds to expand your on-going innovative development project?

Then here is a chance for you to win cash prizes and a round-trip air fare with all boarding and lodging expense paid to travel to a different country where the finalists will showcase their proposals/project before an eminent jury for the final round.

- The GDN-2008 Awards & Medals Competition topics are:

- The Governance and Political Economy of Natural Resource Management
- Exploitation of Natural Resources: Trends and Environmental Implications
- The Economics of Natural Resource Management
- Foreign Direct Investment and Natural Resources
- Societies and Natural Resource Management

- The GDN-2008 Most Innovative Development Project competition is an opportunity for NGOs to promote their field work (in any subject) that has been of benefit to the local community

Deadline: August 20, 2008 for the development project; September 5, for research proposals/papers.

The competition is open to nationals from developing & transition countries.

The Awards are jointly funded by GDN and the Government of Japan
For more information log onto www.gdnet.org/2008awards or mail us at awards@gdnet.org

